Journalism was my first major, and, in some ways, my first writing love. It was the first time I realized I could write for a living, and I loved that. While I'm not looking for the adrenaline-fueled career as a journalist, I still love the idea of informing people of what is going on around them. You can find some pieces I wrote below, including one that was nationally syndicated.

Bottled Water Ban at DePauw University

Introduces the news of the bottled water ban at DePauw University and explores possible effects and reactions of the campus population. Nationally syndicated thanks to Uwire.

FERPA's Effects at DePauw University

Explores the effects of the 2010 educational loan reform known as 'FERPA' on DePauw University's campus.
